Build-Up

 4 8

First touch, body shape, disguise and using space to release the right back.

	Play 1	First touch turned inside, inviting the opponent's press jump. The pass is easy to read from body shape.
	Play 2	First touch turned inside again; pass played across the six-yard box.
	Play 3	Body shape makes it easy for the defence to read the pass. Work on disguising and hiding passing intention.
	Play 4	First touch turned inside prevents accessing the right back.
	Play 5	Space will open on the side the press comes from - use that to your advantage at times.
	Play 6	Pass to a pressed teammate. Disguise intention to play into space for the right back.
	Play 7	Identify the advantage in the central channel.
	Play 8	Goalkeeper did not help, but body shape was poorly adjusted.
	Play 9	Good pass and good communication, indicating the advantage.
	Play 10	Good, more open control and deceiving the opponent who jumped the press.
	Play 11	Again using space to release the right back.
	Play 12	Better body adjustment, good pass between the lines.

Defensive Phase

Chasing, line communication, hip position and depth defending.

	Play 1	Long chase - communicate to adjust the defensive line; free man in behind.
	Play 2	Long chase - do not allow the opponent to turn and have space.
	Play 3	Improve hip positioning; keep them open towards the opponent entering the box.
	Play 4	Identify if the opponent tends to dribble and offer closer cover to the right back.
	Play 5	Disadvantaged situation - perhaps step closer. Was in a difficult moment.
	Play 6	Good reading and depth defending.
	Play 7	Good reading and depth defending, good block on the shot.
	Play 8	Good engagement, using the arms and not mistiming the tackle.
	Play 9	Good recovery and clearance.
	Play 10	Good read, no threat in the box, jumps to intercept.

Cross Defending

Reference points, scanning and cutting out crosses.

Play 1 Be careful not to rely only on the opponent as your reference.

Play 2 Again, uses only the opponent as reference.

Play 3 Split attention between space and opponent to cut out crosses.

Play 4 Good scanning and positioning.

Play 5 Good use of the opponent as reference, good use of the arm to mark the reference.

Play 6 Good scanning and reading of the cross, disrupting the opponent's jump.

Defensive Transition

Box defending, depth, scanning and 1v1 duels in transition.

Play 1 Improve positioning in transition when defending the box.

Play 2 Good depth defending in transition, hips turned towards the opponent's side.

Play 3 Good scanning and transition defending, preventing the pass in behind to the opponent.

Play 4 Good 1v1 in transition and open field, directing the opponent to the byline (opponent is right-footed). Good use of the arm in the duel. Good distance from the ball, preventing a shot or cross.
